INTRODUCTION

Once you have constructed several model rocket kits and have become familiar with the basic Estes Technical Reports, you will no doubt have a variety of ideas for unique designs of your own. Your far-out thoughts on high performance vehicles, exotic designs, and precisely detailed scale models can become a reality with the Estes "Custom Parts Catalog." The components needed to build these and a multitude of other custom designs are featured in the following pages. The original design below illustrates how the various types and sizes of nose cones, adapters, body tubes, ring sets, and fins can be used to construct a variety of shapes and styles.

Nearly all matching Estes parts have the same series identification number. Those which do not feature an additional explanation as to where they can be used. Normally, parts listing the same series I.D. number will be interchangeable with each other. For instance, a No. 20 body tube (BT-20) would mate with a No. 20A balsa nose cone (BNC-20A), a No. 20C payload section (PS-20C), or a No. 20B engine block (EB-20B). Further a No. 2060 tube adapter (TA-2060) will adapt a BT-20 to a BT-60 and a No. 5055 centering ring (AR-5055) will center a BT-50 within a BT-55. By using balsa or paper adapters, almost any combination of parts can be joined together.

Although most measurements given in this catalog are stated in English figures, they can be easily converted to their metric equivalents by using the table below.

BALSA ADAPTERS

Adapters give flexibility for rocket design. Switch from one size body tube to another for payload capsules, parachute compartments, propulsion sections, etc. Adapters fitting BT-20 can be built up with masking tape to fit BT-30. Any adapter can be hollowed to make a passage for ejection gases. All adapters have at least 1/2" mating surface on each end.

ENTER THE DESIGN OF THE MONTH COMPETITION AND WIN A $50.00 MERCHANDISE CERTIFICATE

Have an idea for an original design? Enter our Design of the Month competition today! Simply follow the rules below. Keep those entries coming, and maybe you'll be our next winner.

DOM RULES

- All entries become the property of Estes Industries and cannot be returned.
- Employees of Estes Industries and members of their immediate families are not eligible.
- Any type of model rocketry design can be entered (rockets, boost-gliders, launching or recovery devices, etc.)
- Designs should be new, original, and different, but they also need to be workable. The goal is to develop something new that other rocketeers can build and use successfully, too.
- Entries will be judged on practicality, originality, neatness, completeness, and clarity. Plans do not have to be flight tested and proven.
- Your design entry should include a parts list and any instructions or diagrams you feel would be helpful.
- Please do not send the actual model as it cannot be returned.
- Photos of entries are greatly appreciated, but are not required.
- You may send as many entries as you like.
- New contest every month.
- All designs reaching Estes Industries during the calendar month will be entered in that month's competition. (Date of receipt, not postmark, will determine the month in which a design will be entered.)
- If two or more exceptional entries are received during any month, the judges may, at their discretion, make identical first-place awards or give additional honorable mentions.
- Designs should be sent to the Design of the Month Editor, Estes Industries, Inc., Penrose, Colorado 81240. However, all plans sent to us which are not specifically addressed to another contest or department will be automatically placed in the Design of the Month Competition.
- Each month the designer of the winning entry will receive a certificate entitling him to $50.00 in merchandise and an award certificate suitable for framing. Award winners will be notified by mail.

GOOD LUCK!!!
